A Home for Butterflies

Rita Venable

What kind of real estate do butterflies look for when choosing a home? Do they like what they see, smell and taste at your garden or do they turn up their antennae and look elsewhere? This presentation will focus on what butterflies need and how to plan your garden space. It will include a list of top nectaring plants for Tennessee butterflies. Also, we will discuss hostplants—including trees—for butterflies. We'll go over some practical solutions for the “new normal” of butterfly gardening.

Rita is the author of the popular field guide, “Butterflies of Tennessee.” She is also a host for the TV show “Volunteer Gardener.” She has published numerous articles and photographs in literary publications, newspapers, and magazines. (see webpage above for details)
